

TEXAS McCOMBS

TEXAS IM ADVISORY COUNCIL

The Information Management Advisory Council provides high-level strategic guidance to all IM related programs within the McCombs School of Business and enhances the relevance and reputation of the programs. Our IM Programs develop business leaders who understand how to leverage information technology to create business and social value, and are educated in the strategic, financial, and economic implications of IT projects.

The MBA and BBA IM Programs at the McCombs School of Business are consistently ranked by national publications such as Business Week, U.S. News and World Report and The Financial Times, in the top five for Information Technology.
